There has never been a better time to be alive.

Now it's unique because is the time of people. Technology has really democratized.

The people do have the power more than ever.

As never before, people are linking each other through communication.

In this unprecedented time of major change and new challenges in the world, artists have new ways to make visual communication in an enormous number of disciplines, although ideas and creativity are the main medium, and visual intelligence, thoughtfulness and playfulness are the tools!

Factory -Art with the accent on individual development within a vibrant and supportive team welcomes artists with the desire to reshape and push forward creativity by giving them the opportunity to exhibit internationally.

Factory-Art is looking also to explore and invent new possibilities, opportunities and environments for multi-platform digital communication out of the old static gallery concept to better communicate by the audience.
